

Dean of the School of Business Administration

Stetson University is searching for an innovative leader for its School of Business Administration.

Stetson University has been ranked among the South's top four regional universities for over 15 years. Business and accounting programs within the School are AACSB accredited at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Florida's first business program, the School has been empowering students to lead in a complex, global business environment since 1897.

The University seeks an experienced academic leader capable of advancing excellence in business education richly integrated with liberal learning. The Dean of the School will be an accomplished teacher-scholar with experience cultivating interdisciplinary approaches to learning. A commitment to community engagement, international programs, and transformational leadership development are essential. The successful candidate will demonstrate evidence of effective strategic management of innovative, high quality business programs.

The Dean of the School of Business Administration reports to the Provost and Vice-President for Academic Affairs and works with other University leadership to ensure the School's and the University's success. The Dean's primary areas of responsibility include academic programs and quality of learning, budget and personnel management, faculty recruitment and development, collaboration with University leaders on alumni and community outreach, fundraising, and institutional advancement, and enrollment management.

The School of Business Administration includes degree programs in Accounting, Family Enterprise, Finance, International Business, Management, Management Information Systems, and Marketing. The School houses the award-winning Roland George Investments Institute, the Family Enterprise Center, and the Prince Entrepreneurship Program. The University has four academic divisions, including the School of Business Administration, College of Law, College of Arts & Sciences, and School of Music. Founded in 1883, Stetson University is a private, selective university of 4,000 students in a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs on four campuses.
