

Junior Seminars for School of Business Students at Stetson: Synthesis and Advanced Accomplishment

- What are Junior Seminars at Stetson?

Junior Seminars are courses that invite you to consider complex questions that foster the development of personal and social responsibility beyond the paradigms of a single disciplinary approach. Effective 2011-12, they are required of all students in the School of Business (see below)* and open to all majors. They encourage participants to view issues and questions through the lenses of a variety of perspectives. Junior Seminars are designed to advance substantially abilities in critical analysis, coherent reasoning, writing, and effective speaking and listening. Discussion based, Junior Seminars represent advanced accomplishment and will hopefully be a highlight of your Stetson experience!

Junior Seminars will fulfill the second of the two Personal & Social Responsibility units required for the completion of general education studies in the School of Business. The first unit is satisfied by BN 209 The Legal, Social and Ethical Environment of Business, an Ethical or Spiritual Inquiry (E) course. The Junior Seminar selected may also be from the 'E' area or chosen from one of the other four Personal and Social Responsibility areas: Environmental Responsibility (R), Human Diversity (D), Health & Wellness (W), and Social Justice (J).

Enrollment in Junior Seminars is limited, with 16 students allowed per class. Registration caps are set at 15. Instructors may, at their discretion, approve one student overload.

- Am I eligible to register for a Junior Seminar offered during the 2011-12 academic year?

Beginning in the 2011-2012 academic year, School of Business students should register for a Junior Seminar sometime during their third year of college study (i.e., the year prior to their graduation year).

To be eligible to register for one of the Junior Seminars offered during the 2011-12 year:

- 1) You must have a major in the College of Arts & Sciences or the School of Business; and,
- 2) You must be in your third year of college study in 2011-2012; and,
- 3) Your intended graduation date must be Fall 2012, Spring 2013, or Fall 2013.

If all three statements apply to you, then you are eligible to select one of the Junior Seminars for the 2011-12 academic year!

*Students transferring into the School of Business at the junior level in Fall 2011 or Spring 2012 will be required to take a Junior Seminar during Spring 2012.
