ENGL 246A  Popular Literature: Literature for Children & Young Adults
MTWRF  10:45- 12:55 PM
Gail Radley

It isn’t all sugar and spice and everything nice. The taboos are gone. Contemporary literature for children explores serious themes, often with hard-hitting realism. In this course, we’ll read acclaimed, contemporary novels in a variety of genres to get a sense of the range of possibilities for the audience. While touching on works for younger children, we will focus primarily those for children in the upper elementary grades through young adults, considering the books not only in terms of audience needs and readiness, but also as serious works of literature. Students will be evaluated mainly through participation in discussion, response papers, and a final essay.

Creative Writing Courses for Undergraduates
Summer 2013

ENCW 312A Fiction Workshop
MTWRF  4:15-6:25 PM
Mark Powell

A workshop helping students develop their skills in such fiction techniques as characterization, plot, setting, point of view, and style. Permission of the instructor required.

ENCW 412  Advanced Fiction Workshop
MTWRF  4:15-6:25 PM
Mark Powell

A workshop helping students develop their skills in such fiction techniques as characterization, plot, setting, point of view, and style. Permission of the instructor required.
Graduate Courses
Summer 2013

ENCW 512 Fiction Workshop
MTWRF 4:15-6:25 PM
Mark Powell

A workshop helping students develop their skills in such fiction techniques as characterization, plot, setting, point of view, and style. Permission of the instructor required.