Stetson University College of Law accepts a limited number of visiting students. Transient student status is not automatically granted, but instead is based on the space available in classes, the applicant's academic credentials, the student's disciplinary record, if any, whether the applicant has a hardship that requires him or her to reside in the Tampa Bay area, and various other factors. Transient student status is granted on a semester-by-semester basis. The maximum number of credits any transient student may take at Stetson University College of Law is 29.

Please note that any false or misleading information statement or inaccurate application may be the basis for denial of admission or, if admitted, for dismissal from the College of Law. All questions must be answered and the application must be signed and dated. You must notify the College of Law of any changes of status as to any part of this application that may occur after the date of the signature on this application.

General Instructions

1. Submit a $50.00 non-refundable application fee.
2. Complete this application form and prepare a typed personal statement that explains why you wish to be a transient student. Mail the application and the statement to the Office of the Registrar at the above address.
3. Submit the Law School Questionnaire to the academic dean at your school. Have that person send the questionnaire directly to the Office of the Registrar at the above address or return it to you in a sealed envelope with a signature along the envelope seal. You may then submit the sealed, signed envelope to the Office of the Registrar.
4. Arrange for a copy of your LSDAS Report that shows your undergraduate GPA and LSAT score(s) to be sent to the above address. This may be a copy of the official report contained in your student file or your own candidate's copy.
5. Arrange for your law school to mail a current, official transcript to the address above.
