POSITION: Assistant Professor of Health Sciences

The Department of Health Sciences at Stetson University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the Assistant Professor level. The position is a full-time, 9-month appointment that begins in August 2024. Primary teaching responsibilities include undergraduate courses in health science, including Anatomy and Physiology with labs.

QUALIFICATIONS:

The new Cici and Hyatt Brown Hall for Health and Innovation, opened in November 2022, is home to the Department of Health Sciences' faculty. We are currently seeking a candidate who holds a Ph.D. in Anatomy, Physiology or a closely related field and who has a demonstrated record of teaching and scholarly success. Preference will be given to those who have experience supervising undergraduate research projects. A strong commitment to teaching at a liberal arts and sciences institution, to innovative pedagogy, and to mentoring students from diverse backgrounds are a must.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

Stetson focuses on education of the whole student through a strong foundation in General Education, deep disciplinary training, and experiential learning. This tenure-track faculty position has a strong focus on teaching, advising, and mentoring of undergraduate research. The teaching load is equivalent to three course units per semester. Primary teaching responsibilities are Anatomy and Physiology I and II (HLSC 201 and 202) along with Senior Research Proposal and Project (HLSC 498 and 499). All majors in the College of Arts and Sciences complete a Senior Project, and therefore mentoring undergraduates as researchers is a key responsibility. Specialized courses may include new or existing upper-division health sciences courses. As teacher-scholars, candidates are expected to be excellent teachers, and to develop a vibrant, successful undergraduate research program. Candidates will be expected to undertake University service, which includes academic advising of majors each semester, and additional service is commensurate with rank. #### THE DEPARTMENT:

The successful applicant's appointment will be in the Department of Health Sciences. Currently, there are six full-time faculty members, whose expertise spans several diverse health-related fields (e.g., immunology/virology, gerontology, nutrition, exercise physiology). We are deeply committed to effective teaching and to working with students in a mentoring capacity.
