

Part-time Program Underway

STETSON UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

of Law will offer a four-year evening program for aspiring lawyers.

The deadline is February 15, 2002 to apply for the charter class, which begins in Fall 2002 on the Gulfport/St. Petersburg campus. A new facility in Tampa, where students will be able to complete some of their required courses, is expected to be open by Fall 2003.

Stetson has submitted a bid to buy the former Tampa Police Department property in downtown Tampa, with plans to demolish the old building and build a new facility there.

Three information sessions last year attracted significant interest in the program, said Jan Majewski, Assistant Dean for the new program, estimating that the school will enroll fewer than 100 students for the charter class.

Stetson Society Helps Plan Financial Futures

THE STETSON SOCIETY IS A RECOGNITION SOCIETY

to honor alumni, parents and friends who have included Stetson University College of Law as a beneficiary in their wills or estate plans. Membership represents a commitment to Stetson and its future needs.

There are many ways to avoid, or at least reduce, estate taxes. Most techniques require that action be taken during life to structure the estate to be subject to as little estate tax as possible. Failure to plan or take advantage of these opportunities may mean that you have "volunteered" to pay estate taxes to the IRS.

While the Stetson Society emphasizes the importance of having a will as the cornerstone of estate planning, membership is also given to individuals who establish any of the following planned gifts:

Life Income Opportunities:

- Gift Annuities (immediate or deferred)
- Annuity Trusts
- Unitrusts

Other Planned Gifts:

- Charitable Lead Trusts
- Retained Life Estate Gifts
- Life Insurance (When Stetson is designated the owner or beneficiary of a life insurance policy, the annual insurance premiums are deductible for federal income tax purposes.)
- Contingency provisions

For information on the Stetson Society membership, or to receive a brochure about any of our planned gift opportunities, contact:
