The Executive Board welcomes the submission of articles of substantial legal merit. However, because the Stetson Law Review uses a symposium format, the Review typically will consider only articles that correspond with upcoming symposia topics. Authors seeking publication in the Stetson Law Review should submit manuscripts with endnotes typed in a separate section from the text. All text and endnotes should be double- or triple-spaced. Endnotes should follow the most recent version of the ALWD Citation Manual: A Professional System of Citation, published by Aspen Law & Business. The Review will conform all manuscripts selected for publication to The Redbook: A Manual on Legal Style, published by West.

The Review assumes no responsibility for the return of manuscripts. Although the Stetson Law Review generally grants great deference to an author's work, the Review retains the right to determine the final published form of every article. As a matter of policy, the Review encourages the use of gender- and race-neutral language. Student works generally appear in alphabetical order according to last name.

The Stetson Law Review is indexed in the Index to Legal Periodicals, Current Law Index, and Shepard's Florida Citator, and is available on Hein Online, Westlaw, and LEXIS electronic databases.

The Stetson Law Review serves as Headquarters of the National Conference of Law Reviews.
