BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

The MHA/MBA develops strategic leaders poised to make an impact on the healthcare industry.

With the need for healthcare administrators expected to grow by 20.5% in the next decade, the industry needs managers with the budgetary, staff management and quality assurance skills to support exceptional patient care.

Combined, AHU and Stetson graduate program alumni hold positions as CEOs, vice presidents, nurse managers, financial directors and marketing directors.

"What drives me is getting to know people on a personal level. My favorite part about the program was the collaboration with others that have different backgrounds and the diversity of different industries they've worked in. I recommend this program to anyone who is looking to get into healthcare or leadership."

"I was really surprised by the fact that, going into the business world and taking classes like accounting, it was actually really easy for me to understand, and Stetson made it really enjoyable. I had flexibility and was able to take classes and keep up with the work while working full-time, so this dual-degree program being completely online made that really easy for me."
