II. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF DEPENDENCY REQUIREMENTS & VERIFICATION

Per IRS regulations, you cannot claim a person as a dependent unless that person is your qualifying child or qualifying relative. Please refer to IRS Publication 501: Table 5. Overview of the Rules for Claiming an Exemption for a Dependent (<https://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p501.pdf>) for more information about claiming dependents and the Tests to be a Qualifying Child and Qualifying Relative. It is important to remember that while the IRS dependency definition is more expansive, Stetson includes only yourself, spouse/domestic partner, children and step-children under the tuition benefits policy.

Certification: I hereby certify the individual for whom I am requesting Tuition Benefits is my legal spouse; domestic partner; child under 24 years of age; or a dependent child 24 years of age or older, who meets the definition of dependency as defined by the Internal Revenue Service Code of the United States. I understand I am responsible for notification of any change in the qualifying status of a dependent.

IV. NOTIFICATION OF TUITION BENEFITS TAX LIABILITY

ATTENTION POST-BACCALAUREATE, CERTIFICATE AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

Please be aware that some tuition benefits are considered taxable income. You are responsible for determining and initiating any personal Income Tax withholding adjustments necessary to accommodate for this taxable benefit. The University will remit the appropriate employment taxes (Social Security and Medicare) relevant to such benefit; however, you will be responsible for repaying the University your share of these employment taxes.

The Stetson University Controller's Office may be contacted regarding questions about the tax liability of tuition benefits received for post-baccalaureate, certificate or graduate level courses. The Controller's Office is located in the Administrative Services Building and may be reached at (386) 822-7061.

The following table summarizes the thresholds at which the tuition waiver benefit becomes a taxable fringe benefit to the employee/qualified non-employee. The total dollar value applied to the benefit is equal to the prevailing cost per credit hour at the time the class is attended, times the number of credit hours taken.

This limitation is an Annual Amount (January – December)

Student attending classes	Under-graduate	Graduate < $5,250	Graduate >$5,250
Employee	Non-taxable	Non-taxable	Taxable
Spouse of employee	Non-taxable	Taxable	Taxable
Dependent child of employee*	Non-taxable	Taxable	Taxable
Dependent domestic partner	Taxable	Taxable	Taxable
Qualified non-employee	Taxable	Taxable	Taxable

*Federal tax law guidelines for the definition of "qualified dependent child" under IRS rules must be met.

Calculation and Payment of Taxes:

The taxable benefit will be calculated during each semester and is based on the number of taxable credit hours taken. The total benefit for the semester will be added to the employee's compensation for the payroll period of the completed semester, as an additional non-cash payroll item. Since this is supplementary compensation to the employee, it is subject to annualized Federal tax withholding, Social Security (6.5%) and Medicare (1.45%) taxes.

Notice: Dropped classes must be approved by the Registrar and written notice must be received by the Tax Compliance Officer no later than the Drop/Add date for Financial Penalty, as published in the Yearly Bulletin.

Stetson University highly recommends that additional questions concerning the taxability of tuition benefits be directed to a consulting tax advisor.

Certification:

I certify that I have read the above information concerning the tax implications of receiving tuition benefits from Stetson University, and Acknowledge my responsibility for complying with all Federal tax withholding requirements as they relate to both age eligibility and receipt of these benefits.
